

GENTILUCCI'S STREAK STOPPED AT 42 GAMES

STREAK TIES CAREER HIGH SET DURING 1870 WITH NASSAU CO.

PORTLAND, MAINE (Aug. 6, 1876) – Quinnipiac lost 10-7 at Portland in the final game of the two teams' series on Sunday, but for Quinnipiac the more important news was the Hitting Streak of 1B William Gentilucci ended after 42 games.

Gentilucci had five chances with the bat, but the best he could was reach base via Error in the top of the 1st and again during his final trip to the plate during the top of the 8th.

For Gentilucci, he now has two 42-game Hitting Streaks to his name: one in 1870 and the one that ended today.

The updated list of forty-game Hitting Streaks in N.B.B.O. history:

- #1: 67 games by Peter Huff (Union) during 1871 (ended Aug. 5)
- #2: 49 games by Remi Scrovegni (Frontier) during 1874 (ended Aug. 5)
- #3: 45 games by Ned Morganti (Quaker St.) during 1875-76 (ended May 20, 1876)
- #4: 43 games by William Sudduth (Merrimack) during 1875-76 (ended May 27, 1876)
- #5: 42 games by William Gentilucci (Quinnipiac) during 1876 (ended August 6)
- #6: 42 games by William Gentilucci (Nassau Co.) during 1870 (ended July 20)
- #7: 42 games by Cormack Alexander (K.C. & Q.S.) during 1867-68 (ended May 22, 1868)
- #8: 41 games by Franklin Petty (Lake Erie) during 1869 (ended July 7)
- #9: 41 games by William McQuaid (Flour City) during 1862-63 (ended June 28, 1863)
- #10: 40 games by Henry Nabors (Victory) during 1868-69 (ended May 22, 1869)
- #11: 40 games by Ned Morganti (Quaker St.) during 1873-74 (ended June 17, 1874)